

Earl Thomas Conley, Your Love's On The Line

You've never cheated, you've never lied
You've never had feelin's that you've had to hide
For she's got you thinkin' of somethin' so different tonight
It's too late to worry what's right or what's wrong
& you're a little too crazy to leave it alone
When you're lookin' at somethin' that's too good to push it aside

Boy, she's got your head in the clouds
& your heart in a bind
How come you're feelin' so proud
When your love's on the line?

You still think your 1st love's the best in your life
When you know you should hurry, but you can't say goodbye
& you know you can't go back & feel like you're where you belong
Now the sweet taste of freedom is hard to control
When the touch of a woman's so tender to hold
She won't even let you remember how long you've been gone

(x2):
Boy, you've got your head in the clouds
& your heart in a bind
So how come you're feelin' so proud
When your love's on the line?
