

Earl Thomas Conley, Your Love Says All There Is

You keep talking with your body
And to your every move I can relate
Cause I've been feeling what you're thinking
And I guess your love says all there is to say

This party started in your arms tonight
And I can see forever in your eyes
Without a word you put me in my place
Your love says all there is, your love says all there is to say

I have never been loved helpless
From my feet you brought me to my knees
How could my heart keep from falling
For this feeling that you've given me

This party started in your arms tonight
And I can see forever in your eyes
Without a word you put me in my place
Your love says all there is, your love says all there is to say

Your love says all there is to say

Your love says all there is to say

Your love says all there is to say
