

Earlimart, Before It Gets Better

there's a light that just won't go out no matter what they try to do 'cause you can't pull out the circuits remove the bulb or blow the fuse and it just might be the brightest star discovered yet by man but it might as well be a pin hole from where we stand there are times when I thought it'd be easy to ignore but it just takes one look and I don't believe my theory anymore I won't get upset I won't fight it I'd have no escape in mind but the distant roar of the highway just won't subside so don't leave soon don't leave this room we'll be on top of the moon but 'til then

it's a bloodbath
it's a bloodbath
it's a bloodbath
and it's getting worse

in a crowded room there are people planning our time and the next time I know when I see them they will be older and we'll be fine

you can count up all of your friends who still really know you on just one hand and the others that come around too they'll understand

so don't feel bad
don't look so sad we're much more than that but for now it's a deathtrap it's a deathtrap
it's a deathtrap
it's a bloodbath
and it's gonna get worse

and it's gonna get worse
it's gonna get worse
before it gets better