

Echo Image, Standing Alone (Neuroactive Remix)

Make way for all the words they say
How could you know that they weren't true?
With whispering voices in your head
What can be done? what can be said?
And all their words they seem to be
Just another statement
You see them standing with new faces
Faces with no eyes

Standing there alone again
You don't need another friend
Walking down the road of blame
Truth will never be the same
Standing there alone again
You don't need another friend
Walking down the road of blame
Truth will never be the same

Give way for another truthless day
You rise as a beating on your soul
You hold your breath while feeling numb
Black rainclouds sealing up the sun
The shouting voices in your head
Tell you nothing
You scream but no one hear you calling
You're left with all your lies

Lies

Standing there alone again
You don't need another friend
Walking down the road of blame
Truth will never be the same
Standing there alone again
You don't need another friend
Walking down the road of blame
Truth will never be the same

Instrumental break

Standing there alone again
You don't need another friend
Walking down the road of blame
Truth will never be the same (another friend)
Standing there alone again
You don't need another friend (another friend)
Walking down the road of blame
Truth will never be the same (another friend)