

Echo & The Bunnymen, Lost And Found

I was standing in a graveyard under silver studded skies In a forest burning ashes on the bonfires of our lives
As the sky fell down
I was lost and found saw my world spin round round and round
All the ghosts have gathered round me come to tell me of a change in the darkness that surrounds me I am falling down again
On this haunted ground
I was lost and found
Lost
Lost and found
Lost
Lost and found
She will tell you her cathedral has no windows and no doors and you know she doesn't need you and that's why you want her more As your heart melts down you are lost not found
Lost and found
Lost and found
I was counting all the tombstones of the buried boys and girls as the wind blew in like ice and froze this cemetery world And we all fell down we were lost and found
Lost and found
Lost and found
