Lustra

There's something hiding behind your immaculate smile You have always known, so let it out

Lustra I fell your anger swell the radical in your style, girl Take the cross you bear and throw it out

She's coming up, coming up Breathe it in and let it out Let it go, be yourself, take a shot It's what you've always known now You've always known now What you waiting for

Lustra It's gonna take as long, as long as it will take To strike a match to your silence Take the pain you bear and burn it out

She's coming up, coming up Breathe it in and let it out Let it go, be yourself, take a shot and give it out Coming up, coming up Breathe it in and let it out Let it go, be yourself, take a shot It's what you've always known now You've always known now What you waiting for

Lustra Don't you know where's no tomorrow In a sense, there's no way out Innocence is all you're born with Inner sense dictates the way you wheel The way you deal with knowing who you are

Lustra You know where hell is when you Fight the maze of denial Do it You've gotta take a shot Give all you've got for your dreams girl

She's coming up, coming up Breathe it in and let it out Let it go, be yourself, take a shot and give it out Coming up, coming up Breathe it in and let it out Let it go, be yourself, take a shot It's what you've always known now You've always known now
