

Echoboy, Automatic Eyes

There's things that we might never know there's things that we might never show eachother although we're living by eachother's side i'd never breathe a word to you if sixty seconds of the truth was spoken i'd be broken automatic eyes

dishonest movements instinctively premeditated I lost control on thursday morning