

Ed Bruce, You're Not Leaving Here Tonight

There's no way back cause we've come too far
We'll watch the last bridge burn in a midnight fire
Any thought of saying good night was lost when we closed the door
And I'm sure
You're not leavin' here tonight not till I hold you tight
Not till the sun burns brighter than this old candle light
I really don't care how long it takes till the moon is gone
With lovin' so near you're not leavin' here tonight

The light is soft layin' on your skin
We're close enough to go where we've never been
We feel the love that's waiting for us why wait a moment more
I think we're sure
You're not leavin' here tonight...
You're not leavin' here tonight...
You're not leavin' here tonight...
