

Eddie Reader, Nobody Lives Without Love

Seems like I've gone off the side of a mountain
Couldn't be sure I was even alive
Fallen from the icy heights
Landed with a broken cry
In this valley of shadow and sorrow and sighs
Can you save me, baybee?
Nobody lives without love
Nobody gets to give up
You can try to lock your heart away
But love will come back for you some day
Nobody Lives Without Love.
Thought I could live my life as a stranger
Hide from the heartbreak that love always brings
Make it to the higher ground and try to turn the volume down
Couldn't stop the sirens from singing
Sing for me, baby.
Nobody lives without love
Nobody gets to give up
You can try to lock your heart away
But love will come back for you some day
Nobody Lives Without Love
You can try to lock your heart away
But love will come back for you some day
Nobody Lives Without Love
You came along like a flash of pure lightning
Crashed into my life like a runaway star
Feels like I'm falling in gravity-zation
Now I'm standing here offering a stranger my heart
You can even lock your heart away
But love will come back for it some day
Nobody lives without love
(nobody lives without love)
(nobody lives without love)
(nobody lives without love)
Since I've gone off the side of the mountain
(nobody lives without love)
Couldn't be sure if I was even alive
(nobody lives without love)
Thought I could live my life as a stranger
Hide from the heartbreak that love always brings.
(nobody lives without love)
Nobody Lives Without Love.
