

Eddy Arnold, After The Laughter Comes The Tears

You know that after the laughter comes the tears
That's what happens when your memory appears
I try to act real happy since you said goodbye
But sometimes when I least expect I break right down and cry

Cause always after the laughter comes the tears
And my feelings never seem to be too clear
I never know how long I'll smile but it's usually just for a little while Cause after the laughter comes the tears

After the laughter comes the tears...
