Edenbrigde, A moment Of Time

farewell yesterday when we were young like a flower in the desert sand so transient the cycle of life [chorus] within a moment of time within a while of a years' decline the brightest of stars above in night-time skies divine here it is an everflowing stream when they are coming to redeem us from the night that never sees the day [chorus] within a moment of time within a while of a years' decline the brightest of stars above in night-time skies divine and when the years passing by noone will answer noone will cry the solace in sea of tears into a new sunshine [bridge] glory ascending from days neverending unfold your dreams right now

[chorus]