

Edenbrigde, As Far As Eyes Can See

boundless the traces they stand out in relief the sands running out by the eve a trough of the sea in emotions lies on the shores of your dreams a poignant look of deep blue eyes can tell a thousand tales a silverscreen of broken words you threw into the scales

[chorus]

i am the storm and lash the sea that`s wrapping up in mystery within living memory in rain or shine in playgrounds so divine i am the pylon in the dark the guardian of the arc within a velvety reverie as far as eyes can see the vesper bell`s tolling from the belfry up near the ring of truth i try to hear shooting a glance at the wild sea land will be rising at view to take the line of least resist will slow and sure deceive the deadlock of this waiting game the feelings you relieve

[chorus]

losing all the narrow bounds in me
as far as eyes can see