

Edenbrigde, Color My Sky

I believe in the secret path that's hiding from our eyes, the night-time skies are weaving a web of haze golden shores are so far away from silver dreams arcades cast platinum shades way back to the early days

[pre-chorus]

here

the stardust angel spreads his wings and rides the winds of time touched by the moonlight's sonant symphony

[chorus]

color my sky

forsaken am I

from out of the shadows

there's a light to rely

unbroken wings

the rising of kings

to a new age we're waiting for the dawning of springs

I believe in calling spirits of the trees per chance, we're staying in trance we summon the coming age listening to the tunes of whales and dolphins here our seas, mistreated and squeezed will turn into furious rage

[pre-chorus]

[chorus]

color my sky

forsaken am I

from out of the shadows

there's a light to rely

[chorus]