

Edna's Goldfish, More Sides

There's more sides to every story
Than you've ever heard
For every second reason
There lies a hidden third

Promises on one hand
Meant nothing good on paper
The things you said will come around
Will come around to face you

We know the truth
We know the story's out there
We know the truth
We know the story's out there
The story's out there
The story's out there

You made your claim
False accusations fly
Change your face to hide behind
Behind those crowded lies

Don't search too hard to find
To find something new
Forget everything you learned from the start
And what it meant to you

We know the truth
We know the story's out there
We know the truth
We know the story's out there

Don't make it up
Like you knew from the beginning
Start off losing
Cheat to win, and end up winning

We know the truth
We know the story's out there
We know the truth
We know the story's out there
The story's out there
The story's out there
The story's out there
The story's out there
The story's out there
The story's out there
The story's out there
