

Edward, Fear Your God

Can't Get a break
from the things that haunt you Shelter is the winds
in the storm that surrounds you You're all in terror again oh and you don't know what to do Don't do it

Find your solas in the TV and the window your sad
There's a world outside find yourself staring in the mirror wondering where did I go make it just the tide

The tide flows in the ocean and the Moon sway
Covering all the beach and the towers we made You can't fight nature though you try
When you find you're just human and you're fragile
You will die!

Can't sop the beat
of the drums
of the war machine
and wouldn't want to Can't stop the Police State
if you had to
You can teach anyone right is wrong and wrong is right
It's irrelevant!
Don't you know That philosophy here is bent

People live in fear of God

I said The tide

Fear your worthless God Fear your egotistical piece of shit God
Fear your lying God
