

Eldritch, Bleed Mask Bleed

The mask is standing aside, the mask is noticed sometimes

Caught at the first glance cancelled by mind at once

The mask allowed him to grow, the mask allows him to show around

With no sound, with no mask he'd be underground

The mask is helping hiding the sad truth,

Covering the scary face of a man too weary

The mask was pitiful, now the mask's a beautiful smile, pictured and lying

Keeping the world from crying

Bleed from the sky, red as the sunset's blazing eye

Bleed like rain, bleed far away

Man's flesh was so weak, man's brain was so thick

It flew off in one blow, spreading wide like red snow

The mask was better, the mask will go to Heaven

Torn by the rifle, unaware of what it died for

Bleed from the sky, red as the sunset daze the eye

Bleed like you did, Bleed far from here

Caught by the flood, floating on dark waters

Mirroring forever, find yourself away

Better for all, seeing not each other

Seeing what we look like when the mask is off

Go mask and stop only where

A man's known, respected, not for the mask that he wears

Bleed from the sky, red as the sunset's blazing eye

Bleed like rain, bleed far away

Bleed on the fields, red as the autumn paints the hills

Bleed like you deed, bleed mask bleed