

Elegy, Angels' Grace

The morning winds carries the guild of the night
Hands it out and sighs, angel like faces conseal
Masters and slaves, driven by the same

Caught in a world built on lies, left to rhyme
Given place and time, to fill up the gaps in your life
Silence bears the shame

Can you remember the time life was worth
The beauty of the word
No diamonds could steal it away

It was your life you see,
Forced into history, pushed back in time
I am your destiny
I feed you, disease you, I am your world

Capture the spirit, so open your mind
Listen to reason before you decide,
Money won't buy all the things you desire
The future lies wide open

WAR Greed and illusions, all caught in the fight
Darkness faces light

Can you remember the time life was worth
The struggle of a birth
No demons could steal it away

It was your life you see
Forced into history, pushed back in time
I am your destiny
I feed you, decease you, I am your world

[Chorus]

Build your walls up high
For angels grace you cry

Capture the spirit, so open your mind
Listen to reasons before you decide
Money won't buy all the things you desire
The future lies wide open

FIGHT Fight of the fever
The capitol guide

It's not your life you see
Let it be history, way back in time

Love is your destiny
It greeds you, it feeds you
This is your world

[Chorus]
