

Elephantis, Stronghold

We've all got our stronghold
A place where we can feel safe
Those unforgettable memories

We can hold close and never forget
Let them inside; those who truly care
They'll find hope you've lost

I'll cut the cord, pave the path
So we can savour these days
That make us who we truly are Scream it to them all;
'My world is golden'

These motives pull me through
For reasons I'll never know
Feeling the struggle of these inflictions
They send me in wrong directions
But I'll keep on searching

We can hold close and never forget
Let them inside; those who truly care

Overcoming of myself

It seems some days are gone in a heartbeat
Others seem to just stick and stay
But I'll endure these struggles
Just to feel the sun on my face

My world is golden
