

Eleventy Seven, Teenage Heartbreak

You believed in the words he spoke and the love she said she had but leaving this and starting over doesn't sound that bad and he won't care if it ends this way, but you want him to know wasted dreams and broken hearts are all we have to show

Teenage heartbreak nothing hurts so bad than remembering everything you had

You may cry until it seems there are no more tears to give and it may feel like you have no one and no reason to live but God wants more for the life you lead and everything you share guys and girls make your heart but he'll always be there

(chorus)

Teenage heartbreak nothing hurts so bad then remembering everything you had teenage heartbreak really last that long broken hearts heal when the pain is gone.

(Repeat)

It's all over (when the pain is gone) (rpt. 3x)
