

Elliot Minor, Still Figuring Out

Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

This is how it's meant to be
Releasing misery
A strained mind is all I need
To walk on my own feet

We're falling out of time
Let memories unwind
This state that we've been in is beating up your mind

Let's play the song for everyone to let go
Let's play the song all night long

Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

Days and nights, they feel so good
Just like the way they should
Those crazy nights that were left behind were so misunderstood

A missing photograph
Never thinking of the past
Well there's a light to see, and there's only one path

Let's play the song for everyone to let go
Let's play the song all night long

Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

Still figuring out
(Still figuring out)
How to stay like this forever
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

We will go our separate ways
We will go our separate ways
We will go our separate ways
We will go our separate ways
We will go our separate ways

Still figuring out, how to stay like this forever
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways

Still figuring out
(Still figuring out)
How to stay like this forever
Still figuring out, today, today, yeah
Just cruising around, and knowing that we will never go our separate ways
Our separate ways
