

Ellis Paul, New Light On Your Halo

And it ain't shining, it ain't shining, shine, shine, shine...

There's cracks in the walls in the town of Jericho, Sirens blaring out a lifetime never told Rembrandt

On red bricks bright white

Hey pretty thing, voices out a window sing A Puerto Rican Peggy Sue of seventeen in yellow shoes

All are out tonight You might say they're looking for some action A dog strays, music plays, kids stare

They see the man in the black coat as a form of satisfaction