

Eloy, Mysterious Monolith

an awesome glow that shines through the sky attracts me strongly like an obscure shrine strange magnetic object that I seek pulls me further up to its peak mysterious monolith you hide the truth be my guiding light and be my proof tell your secrets give me a sign disclose yourself give me a sign mysterious monolith you hide the truth
be my guiding light and be my proof reveal all your treasures give access to your memories there's no thought unthought of there's no word unspoken no wish that hasn't been talked of there's no dream undreamt of but still there is my question but still I see no future but still we hide in leisure pretending we are pure you contain lights I dreamt of, you hold the thoughts forgotten you clear up the skies that seem dark and besotten you have the answer for the meaning of our lives picture images open existence contrived we're lost in the labyrinths of what seems to be and what is real.. real.. real.. your old words of wisdom though indistinct still they're true... true.. true.. mysterious monolith you hide the truth
be my guiding light and be my proof