

Elva Hsiao, Lonely(English Version)

Lonely

Lighting streaks and thunder rules my heart

Raging storms and oceans tear us apart

My dear, you are not here

Something strange has gotten over me

I get the feeling that I lived beneath your skin

Come and walk with me

Lonely in my heart, heaven falls as I reach for the sky

Caught in a spell of this heartache for a million nights

So lay me out in the moon-light, let me breathe

Your lovely name in my window pane to bring me relief

The flowing tears from my eyes will never put out this flame

Eternally rising up and driving me insane

You are the air, keeps it burning, all in vain

The show is over, we will never be the same

Lonely in my heart, heaven falls as I reach for the sky

Caught in a spell of this heartache for a million nights

Your lovely name in my window pane to bring me relief

So lay me out in the moon-light, let me breathe

Your lovely name in my window pane to bring me relief

The pouring rain at my door-step is saying to me..... oh

Forevermore inside our dreams we'd always be..... oh