Elvis Costello, This House Is Empty Now

These rooms play tricks upon you
Remember when they were always filled with laughter?
But now they're quite deserted
They seem to just echo voices raised in anger
Maybe you will see my face
Reflected there on the pane
In the window of our poor
Forlorn and broken home

Still this house is empty now
There's nothing I can do
To make you want to stay
So tell me how
Am I supposed to live without you?

These walls were lined with pictures Remember the glass we charged in celebration? But now I fill my life up With all that I can to deaden this sensation

Do you recognize the face Fixed in that fine silver frame Were you really so unhappy then? You never said

So this house is empty now There's nothing I can do To make you want to stay So tell me how Am I supposed to live without you?

Oh, if I could just become forgetful When night seems endless Does the extinguished candle care About the darkness?

It's funny how my mem'ry Will bring you so close then make you disappear

Meanwhile all our friends must choose Who they will favour, who they will lose Hang the garland high or close the door And throw away the key

This house is empty now
There's no one living here
You have to care about
This house is empty now
There's nothing I can do
To make you want to stay
So tell me how
Am I supposed to live without you?

This house is empty now
There's no one living here
You have to care about
This house is empty now
There's nothing I can do
To make you want to stay
So tell me how
Am I supposed to live without you?
