

Embodiment, 20 Tongues

run your mouth
brothers, sisters watch your back knives are coming down from the mouths of family put down, let down, let die through these lies broken i stand unreconciled submissive resistance amputation of a helping hand gossip, gossip, gossip
pride comes before your fall who do you think of when you're running your mouth? your friends, they tell me every word that you say good thing i have you to tell my story for me your reflection stands shattered our trust is broken your finger points right back at you when your words are so many sin is close by driven by anger, driven by anger brothers, sisters watch your back
knives are coming down from the mouths of family
put down, let down, let die through these lies
broken i stand unreconciled
submissive resistance amputation of a helping hand
gossip, gossip, gossip
pride comes before your fall
caught in hatred, caught in anger, when will this stop?
who do you think of when your running your mouth?