

Emilyn Brodsky, Always Mean It

i watch you run the gambit from here to pennsylvania i watch you run yourself into the ground i forgive you all your trespasses if you forgive me mine and i'd leave you in the dust if you'd just give me some more time but if you're willing to try so am i if you're already gone it's okay

i just wish that you had said goodbye

women are cruel and love is grotesque but you've already lost all your self respect so build up your ego and tear down your heart 'cause here's some advice i was told to impart run don't walk yell don't talk

don't try to understand sit don't stand
hope don't hurt
always flirt
don't you get jaded
you jaded fuck just take all your chances and run away home with your love always mean it
always mean it
always mean it

if you blame the boyfriend you're a shame
if you buy the bullshit you're to blame if you do the hard work you're a grunt if you leave me hanging you a cu-if you're willing to try so am i
if you're already gone it's okay
