Emmylou Harris, The Other Side Of Life

(Alan O'Bryant)

Praise God I feel like singing I'm on the other side of life now

All my days of sorrow And tears for my loved ones I wish I could tell them the door that I feel Though my body is weary My soul is uplifted My sins are forgiven and my Jesus is real

Praise God I feel like singing I'm on the other side of life now

Though my eyes are dim I see Heaven clearly Though my voice grows feeble I sing just the same In my heart there's a song As I see the gates open I'll sing forever my joyous refrain

Praise God I feel like singing I'm on the other side of life now Praise God I feel like singing I'm on the other side of life now
