

Emo Side Project, Failure By The Dozen

don't worry about me while you sit there and watch and blood flow from my wrist never have i felt never have you seen a heart crumble in two and i watched the sun set tonight as i lose my life a star falls from the sky as i mumbled my last words as you held your breath failure by the dozen

never has the world
been so absorbed from the lost of a last breath never could believe leaves fall from trees as im seeing red

all those things you said every time i bled
i knew you laughed inside but when you couldn't see i was there for you to be another star thats falling down