

Emo Side Project, Until I Speak Your Name remember the memories drawn from long ago this can't be what im looking for only you consume my mind i think about you all the time this feeling in my heart i only get when we're apart i can't go on like this a symphony for the broken heart i have missed

but tomorrow won't bring sunshine the frowns will still remain hiding in a sea of broken hearts until i speak your name it feels like ive missed you when you're gone theres nothing else i can do you thought that id be worn out by now who knows what im hiding from imagined out of boredom again im left alone

tomorrow theres a small shine of ray still it looks better than today i peak out of my blackened house maybe ill get a peak of you i hope i do feels like im floating look at me now today theres finally sunshine a smile on your face hold your hand while im sitting here

until i speak your name