

Engine, Monster

All along I never knew that it was looking for me
And it's still around even though it would never hurt me
And the monster has no fear
Even though I feel it's near

I close my eyes to this and
I feel the darkened room of you

And I know the monster wants me
I'll never know why

And I feel the tortured feelings that could never touch me
Crawling all around the ground and they are clawing for me

And the monster it draws near
Something dark is happening
Want to blend into the gray
It will all be over soon

And I know the monster wants me
I'll never know why

It's getting dark inside
