England Dan And John Ford Coley, We'll Never F

Turn on the radio
We'll play it way down low
There's a tear in your eye
That's reflecting the fire's glow
And I wish that this night would never end
The sun ain't gonna be my friend
Lying here awaiting here
And wishing I knew when
We'll never have to say goodbye again.
We'll never have to say goodbye again.

You must leave, I know you will I won't let you go until You show me the secret For making this time stand still And somewhere sometime from now Together again somehow All of the waiting will seem Like a moment and then We'll never have to say goodbye again We'll never have to say goodbye again

The whole night afraid to see the light And the whole day crying Wishing I knew when We'll never have to say goodbye again We'll never have to say goodbye again
