

Ensiferum, Tears

Shadows of evening on a traveller's way Destiny tells where the strange path will lead you Alone I've been walking this path every day under the stars and the white silver moon I hear a song and I'm closing my eyes while it's sound is carressing my poor and sad mind Will you tonight give your promise to me
For one day the silence will sleep in your dreams

I've been waiting for so long time to see the light of golden bright sun I feel no sorrow in the heart of mine for the tears of life are now gone

Winds are whispering in the sacred forest dancing and singing with the red autumn leaves These memories I could never forget with rising sun I shall be here with thee