Ensign, Absent

Is there a way to take it back Cause it took this long to see I wrong I should have always been there for you How many times did you come to me But I was someplace else Consumed by everything Believing all the praise You always wanted a second from my life But I, I couldn spare the time One word, one sign Was all you ever needed And where was I You can count on me was all I ever said How many times did you come to me But I was someplace else I should have always been there for you You always wanted a second from my life But I, I couldn spare the time One word, one sign Was all you ever needed And where was I You can count on me was all I ever said One word, one sign Was all you ever needed And where was I You can count on me was all I ever All I ever said