

Ensign, Where Did We Go Wrong

Is there something more to this than slogans on a shirt
Following the trend with that X drawn on your hand
Trapped by your actions I've seen it so many times
The past keeps repeating as we run out of time
Where did we go wrong
Are you blindly following the doctrine of others
Without ever knowing what's right for yourself
Living your life by outdated standards
We can't change the world until we change ourselves
Where did we go wrong
Where did we go fucking wrong
I tried to forget what happened in the past
I try to walk away, but it keeps coming back
Have we come so close to breaking down these walls
Did we build this up, just to watch it fall
I tried to forget what happened in the past
I try to walk away, but it keeps coming back
Have we come so close to breaking down these walls
Do you care at all
