

Ephyra, Flames of Revenge

A scream shakes the morning
As the sun begins to shine
One man's dying, nobody say a thing
For the good of one the thousand lives in hell
This dark tyranny has never admitted replies

No night can last 'till the end of all times shout of deep rage will no longer be choked

Burn!

By day the rule by night we plain
We need to defend houses, sons and lives
They treat us like ants but if we stay unite we can defeat the giant
This time they've gone too far No night can last 'till the end of all times
shout of deep rage will no longer be choked

Night
With no moon
Light will Never shine
Black our knives
Death by our side
Black our knives
Death by our side

One by one your men are falling
One by one we show you our smile
Every murder and every rape
Tonight will be cleaned with your blood

No night can last 'till the end of all times There is no wrong way that could never change shout of deep rage will no longer be choked Tonight you'll burn in the flames of revenge