

Erase The Grey, I'll Follow (Acoustic)

and I'll never see what I wanted and I see your face with tears longing for that place inside the empty part of me I try to be that man you wanted me to be all alone if I could take it back I'd show you that I could be what you want me to and I'll be what you say and I will never take away and I'll follow you down that road, down that road again where will you be when this is over and all said and done I try to warn you tell you to not put all your faith in what you see and maybe you won't feel the hurt of losing everything you have I didn't mean to hurt you cause you pain, or make you die inside

I'll be what you say
and I will never take away I'll follow you down that road down that road and I'll be what you say and I will never take away and I'll follow you down that road, down that road, down that road again

I'll be what you need I'll take it back I'll teach you how to love again and I finally see what you wanted and I, I see your face without tears longing for that place the empty side of me I'll try to be that man you wanted me to be all alone, and I will take it back I'll show that I will be what you want me to,

and I will never take away I will follow you down that road
what you say and I will never take away, and I'll follow you down that road, down that road down that road down that road again again.
