

Eric Benet, Love Of My Own

mmm, love of my own yeah

somewhere in my memorie an image fades from the years but still I see my love and me together her face washed away by the salt of my tears but I can feel so vivid still the love I felt for her someone's lying by me but I'm all alone seems you'll have to say goodbye somewhere there's a heartbeat of the love of my own everday my heart beats with a prair to find her

(chorus)
take time to play around, same thing it's up and down can't wait till I foundly found the love of my own take time to play the feeld, take a chance, spin the wheel till I find something real

flashback through the memorie because the picture's so clear the love high, it's so devine, there's nothing better heaven is so far away, but she'll bring it right here and I believe that she can see my face in her fantasies no one here beside me, she had to go so I'll start my search again someday love will find me, when I don't know from the day that I'm all in her arms, is where I'll be

(repeat chorus till end)
