

Eric Cantona, The Friends We Lost

Watch the trees when the others fall
The hall of love is much too small
Watch yourself into the mirror
Someone you hate someone you love
Bet and cry with the worst devils
The friends we lost the time we waste
Some of us have to pay the bills
In peace our enemies can rest

Like a red snake in the water
In mind a winning number
Listen the silence over the fear
The deep ocean that we can't hear
Laugh and drink with the vampires
The friends we lost the time we waste
The blood of our lovely flowers
In peace our enemies can rest