

Eric Dill, Edge of Your Bed

We've come so far
We've created a feeling from nothing
Built a meaning that is strong
Something's wrong
Down closed between a spell
Shadows they crawl
They can seal me and cast me
Into the places that I fear to go
I know it shows
You failed to enter (answer?)
Oh, it's cold
And the light in your eyes
It seems to be fading like the summer rye
I'm so alone
As I wait for you
You say forever is all you need
Life a lie
You've got me sleeping at the edge of your bed
We lay together
What does it mean?
Lying tonight
You've got me sleeping at the edge of you bed
Oh, oh, oh
Oh
Oh, oh, oh
Oh, oh
Oh
You say forever is all you need
Life a lie
You've got me sleeping at the edge of your bed
We lay together
What does it mean?
Lying tonight
You've got me sleeping at the edge of you bed
Useless confusion
A numb illusion
Life a lie
You've got me sleeping at the edge of your bed
Standby forever
For worse or better
Lying tonight
You've got me sleeping at the edge of your bed
Oh, oh, oh
Oh, oh
Oh, oh, oh
Oh
You've got me sleeping at the edge of your bed
