

Erika Jo, Strong Tonight

(Sunny Russ)

Sometimes I feel like my life spills into the ocean
And all I can do is watch it wash away
And sometimes I'm the lighthouse standing on the shore line
Guiding all the sailors through the rain
Yeah, you shattered my heart
Yeah, I should really fall apart, but

I'm strong tonight
I'm the stones that keep the river wide
A straight and steady light that shines
You can't cover me up, you can't keep me down
I'm strong tonight
I can hold my head up high
Tomorrow tears will take their flight
But I'm strong, I'm strong tonight

Sometimes I feel like I'm the girl out at the party
Who is too afraid to look up from her drink
But right now I'm the dancer moving with the music
So free I don't even have to think
I'm taking it out on the town
Turning it up before I come down, but

I'm strong tonight
I'm the stones that keep the river wide
A straight and steady light that shines
You can't cover me up, you can't keep me down
I'm strong tonight
I can hold my head up high
Tomorrow tears will take their flight
But I'm strong, I'm strong tonight

I can re-invent myself
Or live inside a living hell
Either way I'll do it well
Without you or anyone else
I'm strong
Yeah, I'm strong

Yeah, I'm strong tonight
I can hold my head up high
Tomorrow tears will take their flight
But I'm strong, I'm strong, yeah, I'm strong tonight
