

Erika Jo, Who You Are

Oh, beautiful child, you've got a garden of time waiting for you
There are fields full of wonder for you to uncover out there
I want to be here to watch you change and grow and fly
Your future is as open as the big blue sky and

Who you are is something you gotta find out for yourself
And your life belongs to just you and nobody else
Live your dreams and follow your heart
You'll find out who you are

Oh, sweet angel child, your spirit's as wild as a stallion
Your innocence is like a blanket of fresh white snow
You'll make mistakes, but don't be afraid to take your chance
Just believe in yourself and you'll make your own path

Who you are is something you gotta find out for yourself
And your life belongs to just you and nobody else
Live your dreams and follow your heart
You'll find out who you are

And I wish I could be the angel beside you that guides you (that guides you)
Oh, I wish I could show you the way, but I know I gotta let you go and

Who you are is something you gotta find out for yourself
And your life belongs to just you and nobody else
Live your dreams and follow your heart
You'll find out who you are

Oh, sweet angel child
Beautiful child
Who you are