

Erin O'Donnell, I Will Trust In You

Chorus:

I will trust in you
I will hold to what is true
That You see the weakest through
Every trial
I will cling to you
Each day I pledge it new
My imperfect gratitude
From now on

Verse 1:

I am rag doll
Made of strings and yarns
Each day a new thread
Is torn from me
And as I come apart at the seams
My hands raise up
And I fall to my knees
Please hold me
And sew me back together again.

Chorus

Verse 2:

I can feel so old
Like I've seen too much
All my hope has done squeezed dry
Like some worn out sponge
And as I am used up
And spilled empty
You fill me up
With Your sweet certainty
Please keep me full
And never to be thirsty again.

And as my tiny steps
Lead to freedom strides
Keep a watchful eye over me
Lest I trip and fall
I know I'll live

Chorus

(From now on, from now on, from now on)
