

Eskobar, Or Else

It's so sad
Something you've never had
Drove us apart
Drove us away from it all

And it looks as though we never really drowned and it looks as though we never really found

What makes it all worth while?
is it a smile on every brother we meet
or else
is it the truth that every sister will speak?
every brother we meet took us all up from the streets

It's so sad
Something you've never had
Drove us apart
Drove us away from it all

And it looks as though we never really found

What makes it all worth while?
is it a smile on every brother we meet
or else
is it the truth that every sister will speak?
every brother we meet
every sister will speak picked us all up from the streets