Eskobar, Something Is Lost

When something is lost And it can't be found You think about love lit always let you down

But stories they change It may take some time Our lives rearranged They always let you down

Why do you say, you never pray, But you do?

When it's over and out And you're alone inside You think about love It used to let you down

Why do you say, you never pray, But you do?