

Eskobar, Whatever This Town

If you try to get close to me, be prepared, it might hurt cause i live like the human i am so my nails, will catch some dirt dont expect a knight on a horse to come rescue the princess in you I got me on my mind , i put myself first and so should you

If you find this too hard to survive, please think before u say farewell without the history of my past i would be, an empty shell the bags that we carry around contain fragments of yesterday the heavier load, the harder to cope, but gas for the grey mmm...don't you listen to the choir of jealous people full of hate if they have nothing better in their life i swear inside they ache...they ache

Whatever this town, makes you think of me
I'll still be around, when the final bell rings
Whatever this town, makes you think of me

There's nothing that they can do, this city hasn't already done
there's no need to be scared so i laugh in their face when they pull their gun

there's no need to be scared so i laugh in their face when they pull their gun

Whatever this town, makes you think of me
I'll still be around, when the final bell rings
Whatever this town, makes you think of me
I'll still be around, when the final bell rings
