

Esme, Esme Failure Said The Critic

Hold em dear the waves that flow into your open ears these devices keep us all in line all the time We'll find a way to cut through every word they say and get to you to get to you they're in the way v break through it's all about they're eyes it's all about you never underestimate the power they possess they have it and they'll take it they'll try to break it it's All's fair in love and war this fight is what we live for each move is now or never hold our ground an Experience does it show in this callused fight it song you should react here's the attack do you hav
