

Esme, Parallels

We'll talk this over and see what can be done with this situation that we've all had our hands in one
When tempers flare up we'll deal with them in stride as we cap the feelings that we've all bottled up
You're life, what has it become, just to take a detour from the norm.
It's over it's over there's nothing but sober,
We'll try this new craze out and see what it's about,
No time for useless games no room for chemical gain no
We'll sing this song out and see what we have won as our critics take their shots and cast lots for a Felt our strategy here lies with our hopes and dreams standing with you side by side
No time too hide from this one
