

Esmee Denters, Crazy Place

It's the most beautiful thing I think I've ever seen

A homeless child playing with something as simple as a cardboard box and he seems so happy with that smile on his face like nothing matters he's so serene when he doesn't even know if he's gonna live through another day worrying about what he's gonna eat when I look at that it kinda makes me feel guilty cause the world that I'm living in only seems to care about having enough money to buy luxurious things that we don't even need

I'm not trying to be the good girl to save the world cause I do the same damn thing
(Chorus)

isn't it a shame, but we only have ourselves to blame

but love is the most beautiful thing but it's a lost somewhere along the way to money and fame (to money and fame)

Isn't the world a crazy place we were all brought up with different dreams and beliefs but the one thing we all need is to be loved by friends and family and when a child like that with no parents around is able to smile makes me feel very weak, small, when I look at that it kinda makes me feel guilty cause the world that I'm living in only seems to care

(chorus)

it makes me conscious of all of the things I have and makes me feel oh so fast it makes me want to follow my dreams and tries to be a better person it takes me to a higher level it makes me wipe away all of my tears it helps me put a smile on my face cause everything I need is right here isn't it a shame, but we only have ourselves to blame

but it's a lost somewhere along the way to money and fame (to money and fame),

isn't it a shame, but we only have ourselves to blame

but it's a lost somewhere along the way to money and fame isn't the world a crazy place ( isn't the world, .. isn't the world..)
