

Etched In Red, The Six

the six will never leave you jack the six will never turn their back the six will never go
the six know that it's now your time the six want you to go change lives the six want you to go

vivid thoughts in the dark fretting what will be out there peeking cracks of sunlight teasing him with all it's gentle...foreplay be a man leaving nothing unsaid making all who give sight inhale in turn expel the clarity of panic this doubt feels so conclusive a dream that seems elusive fuck the pressure let's go the naughty's just too nice one more time around and jack will leave the six behind no more foreplay

the six will never leave you jack
the six will never turn their back
the six will never go
the six know that it's now your time
the six want you to go change lives
the six want you to go

coiled for the striking, now penetrate the seal taste the foreplay, feel the light