

Eternal Tears Of Sorrow, Nightwind's Lullaby

Like a mother takes care of her children
The nightwind cries for her
Hear those silent whispers...
Like an infant's very first words
Light a candle for those who once were
And the dreams that never came true
Hear the silent crying of souls
Who lost their way home

See a child and how he dies
Under the shade of a birch
The silent nightwind's lullaby
Rocks the cradle of this world

Like a falling star of darkness
Gives the final sign of its life
This forsaken child of the full moon
Searching for a peaceful place to die
He sees a tree, the mighty one
Like the one of his early years
Now he feels the safe under the tree
And calls his mother wind

Chorus

See the circle of light and the child
And his heart full of nightly peace
Hear the divine tune, the prettiest one
The nightwind's nightly verse
Light a candle for those who once were
(And their) hopeful dreams that never came true
Hear the silent weeping of souls
Who lost their way home

Chorus